"Strong as the Strongest" 1912)

The People of the United States

On Tuesday last registered their choice for the office of chief magistrate of this great nation for the next four years. We should all endeavor to make the country prosperous and happy, but these things cannot come to pass unless each individual does his best. Everybody should be thrifty and lay aside something, however little, out of their earnings. This bank will care for your savings and pay you interest while there. You can never expect to reach independence unless you save. We have plenty of good banks, none any better or stronger than ours, for no matter how large the institution, all you want or expect is to get your money, plus interest, and this every well governed bank will do, regardless of size or volume of business. The standing of an institution is the material that controls it. controls it.
